

Greg Coleman
Deputy Comptroller for Large Bank Supervision

Greg Coleman is a Deputy Comptroller for Large Bank Supervision at the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC).

In this position, Mr. Coleman is one of five deputy comptrollers overseeing the supervision of the OCC's large bank portfolio. He assumed these duties in September 2015 and reports to the Senior Deputy Comptroller for Large Bank Supervision.

Mr. Coleman has served a variety of bank supervision roles as an examiner, policy expert, and manager at the OCC, including serving as Examiner-in-Charge of Capital One and Etrade. He previously served as director within the Credit and Market Risk division in the Office of the Chief National Bank Examiner and as the lead for the capital markets team at JPMorgan Chase.

Mr. Coleman joined the OCC in 1989 as a field examiner and became a commissioned national bank examiner in 1994.

Mr. Coleman is a Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA) and holds a bachelor of science in business administration from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.
