SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Depository Institution Management Interlocks Act (12 U.S.C. 3201 et seq.) (Interlocks Act or Act) prohibits individuals from simultaneously serving as a management official at two unaffiliated depository institutions or their holding companies (collectively, depository organizations) under certain circumstances. For example, section 203(1) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 3202(1)) prohibits interlocks between unaffiliated depository organizations if each depository organization (or a depository institution affiliate thereof) has an office in the same relevant metropolitan statistical area (RMSA) (RMSA prohibition), unless each of the depository organizations involved has total assets below a specified threshold (small institution exception). Prior to enactment of the FSRRRA, this asset threshold was $20 million. However, section 610 of the FSRRRA amended the Interlocks Act by raising this asset threshold to $50 million, effective as of October 13, 2006.2

II. Interim Rule

The Agencies are amending their rules in order to implement section 610 of the FSRRRA. Specifically, the interim rules modify the RMSA prohibition to allow a management official of one depository organization to serve as a management official of an unaffiliated depository organization that has an office in the same RMSA as the first organization if each of the depository organizations in question (or a depository institution affiliate thereof) has total assets of less than $50 million. This interim rule also makes technical changes to correct inaccurate cross-references in the definition of management official in each of the Agencies’ rules.

III. Regulatory Analysis

Plain Language

Administrative Procedure Act

The interim rule takes effect upon publication in the Federal Register. The interim rule implements a statutory change that took effect upon enactment on October 13, 2006. The new statutory provision itself gives the Agencies no discretion to modify the asset-size threshold for the small institution exception. The technical corrections of cross-references effected by the interim rule have no substantive effect. For the foregoing reasons, notice and public procedure are unnecessary.

Accordingly, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 553(b), the Agencies find good cause for making the rule effective as of January 11, 2007 without first seeking and reviewing public comment. However, the Agencies nonetheless invite public comment on the interim rule and will amend the rules if appropriate after reviewing public comments.

Regulatory Flexibility Act

Pursuant to section 605(b) of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA) (5 U.S.C. 605(b)), the regulatory flexibility analysis otherwise required under section 603 of the RFA (5 U.S.C. 603) is not required if the head of the agency certifies that the rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities and the agency publishes such certification and a statement explaining the factual basis for such certification in the Federal Register along with its rule.

Pursuant to section 605(b) of the RFA, each of the Agencies certifies that this interim rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. The Agencies expect that this rule will not create any additional burden on small entities. The interim rule relaxes the criteria for obtaining an exemption from the RMSA prohibition, and specifically addresses the needs of small entities by allowing greater numbers of small organizations to qualify for the small institution exception from the RMSA prohibition. Accordingly, a regulatory flexibility analysis is not required.

Paperwork Reduction Act

In accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3506; 5 CFR part 1320 Appendix A.1), the Agencies have determined that no collections of information pursuant to the Paperwork Reduction Act are contained in the interim rule.

OCC and OTS Executive Order 12866 Statement

The OCC and OTS each have independently determined that the interim rule is not a “significant regulatory action” as defined in Executive Order 12866. Accordingly, a regulatory assessment is not required.

OCC and OTS Unfunded Mandates Act of 1995 Statement

Section 202 of the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995 (2 U.S.C. 1532), requires the OCC and OTS to prepare a budgetary impact statement before promulgating a rule that includes

1 Each of the Agencies’ regulations generally define “management official” to include a director, an advisory or honorary director of a depository institution with total assets of $100 million or more, a senior executive officer, a branch manager, a trustee of a depository organization under the control of trustees, and any person who has a representative or nominee serving in such capacity.

a federal mandate that may result in the expenditure by state, local, and tribal governments, in the aggregate, or by the private sector, of $100 million or more in any one year. However, this requirement does not apply to regulations that incorporate requirements specifically set forth in law. Because this interim rule implements section 610 of the FSRRRA, the OTS and OCC have not conducted an Unfunded Mandates Analysis for this rulemaking.
